When purchasing a new home or remodeling your current residence, the kitchen should be one of your most significant considerations. Other rooms can benefit from a coat of paint, new furniture, or updated window treatments. But the style, efficiency, and character of a kitchen makes it one of the most desirable spaces in a luxury home. The kitchen attracts all types of home buyers, from those who have mastered the home-cooked meal to those who employ a personal chef. Regardless of your talent or interest, an efficient and enjoyable kitchen will simplify your life and create a welcoming home.

Kitchens are no longer a utilitarian space isolated from the rest of the home. Today, kitchens are designed for effective and efficient storage, cooking, food preparation, and entertaining. With popular open floor plans, the kitchen often flows into other rooms requiring consistent decor, but providing more space for guests. Include seating with a breakfast bar and stools, window seat, or bistro set. A center island is ideal for appetizers and drinks, and offers a welcomed centerpiece for mingling guests to gather around. Get any party started with a stocked wine refrigerator. And if you lack the space for a true wine cellar, install a custom built-in wine rack to house your collection with style.

Take advantage of Hawaii's indoor-outdoor lifestyle with an outdoor kitchen. A spacious lanai provides the perfect foundation. Ideal for those who love to entertain, an outdoor kitchen allows for more seating space and exposure to the exquisite elements. Include a grill, fire pit, wood-fired brick oven, sink, and storage for a truly luxury outdoor kitchen. It is important to consider the wear and tear of the elements, so select outdoor materials when purchasing appliances and furniture. Sunbrella offers sophisticated and durable outdoor fabrics for upholstery, drapery, patio umbrellas, awnings, and more.

If it is time to put your home on the market, remember that updated kitchens are an attractive selling point. Top-of-the-line appliances, high-end finishes, and contemporary decor increase buyer interest. Ultimately, no matter which lavish aspects this room boasts, a luxury kitchen should have the ingredients to make daily life effortless in the most delicious fashion. ●

Let's Work Together to Stop Cybercrime

PRESENTED BY TITLE GUARANTY

In today's digital age, the ease of electronically transmitting funds has unfortunately created a dangerous opportunity for criminals. Cybercrime is on the rise and affecting all industries, including real estate. In fact, due to the high dollar value of transactions, buyers, sellers, title and escrow companies, and real estate agents have become targets.

Cyber criminals can be savvy to the rhythms of real estate transactions, monitoring emails and waiting for the appropriate time to insert themselves into the flow of communications. At Title Guaranty, we have made it a priority to implement numerous safeguards and policies to protect against these predators. Our escrow staff is trained to look for signs of suspicious activity; however, it is important for all parties to be aware and vigilant to protect themselves from cybercrime.

Gone are the days where perpetrators are visible and merely trying to steal the money out of your wallet. We can fight cyber criminals together – read emails carefully, take the time to make and receive confirming phone calls, and work closely with your Escrow Officer as your transaction proceeds.

MIKE B. PIETSCH
PRESIDENT & COO
TITLE GUARANTY

"Cybercrime is a prevalent issue within the Hawaii real estate market that cannot be ignored. Title Guaranty enforces strict procedures to ensure our clients' funds are safeguarded on every transaction. These standards, along with our national resources and technology, enable us to defeat these cybercriminals' tactics."

Here's what you can do:

-  Call your Escrow Officer immediately if you receive an email requesting to change the wiring instructions for your transaction. As a general rule, escrow companies will not change their wiring instructions during the course of a transaction.
-  Confirm any material changes to the transaction directly over the phone or in person with your client or agent, and with the escrow or settlement agent as applicable.
-  Double check the email address of emails you receive. Be careful not to just rely on hitting the "reply" button. These criminals are creative, varying one letter in an email address or even hacking the actual email account.
-  Be sensitive to grammatical errors and unusual syntax in the body of the email. If an email uses unfamiliar or uncharacteristic phrases, it may be from someone that you do not know.
